tation to the Citizens' Committee for Food Shipments, of which Dr. Edmund von Mach is chairman. And the committee has issued a statement on "this most surprising, but upon investigation perfectly feasible offer."

"The submarine would carry no war equipment of any kind," says the statement, "but would be used solely for commercial purposes. As the United States does not admit that the blockade of Germeny exists, no complication over clearance papers would arise. The submarine would merely submerge to avoid capture and detention. As condensed milk is not contraband, no loss would result, even if the boat were captured. Although the committee has taken this suggestion under advisement, it hopes that it will not be necessary to resort to such an expensive expedient."
